2009 Fur Ball Cleocatra: Queen of the Nile

The Maui Humane Society held its 2009 Fur Ball "Cleocatra: Queen of the Nile ~ Where All Cats Are Revered," fundraiser for the animals on March 21st at the Marriott Resort & Spa. The glamorous evening was a sight to behold due to the vision of Martin Sillivent and MHS' own Fur Ball Chairman, Paul Davis. The tone of the evening was set by the grand entrance of Alaka'i Paleka, dressed as our very own Cleocatra; being carried in on her "litter" by a stunning entourage of Egyptian servants.

The evening offered something for everyone with Cleocatra's Treasure Chest, valued at over $17,000, sponsored by Jeré Diamonds and Fine Jewelry, an outstanding live auction that featured hand crafted jewelry by Topaz Goldsmith & Gallery, a lavish trip to Sonoma Wine Country and the highly contested cover of the 2010 Maui Humane Society Calendar. The silent auction was filled with unique and beautiful treasures and by night's end was a complete sell-out. Guests came "dressed to the nines," many in Egyptian-themed black and gold attire. Jimmy Mac and the Kool Kats rocked the night away; playing well into the night.

The Feline Foundation was awarded the Katherine Award for their hard work, dedication and commitment to increasing spay/neuter and reducing the feral cat population on Maui. Miss Money Penny, a service dog from Lana'i, was awarded the Logan award for the life saving care she gives.

A big Mahalo goes out to all that helped to make this year's event a success and we all look forward to next year ~ Fur Ball 2010.

Together, at the Maui Humane Society

By Jocelyn Bouchard, Chief Executive Officer

The Maui Humane Society is here to improve the lives of both people and animals. We are more than a shelter – we are a complete pet resource dedicated to protecting, healing, matchmaking, teaching and reuniting. From the first moment you fall in love with your pet and all through the life that you share together, the Maui Humane Society will be there to help you every step of the way.

We are committed to accepting every animal that comes to us regardless of breed, temperament, health or space available. Our phenomenal staff ensures that each of these animals is treated with love, care and respect. We house nearly 10,000 pets a year and on any given day we have an average of 210 pets living here at the shelter. We also receive another 27 pets (on average) each and every single day of the year.

How do we do this? With the assistance of the most amazing group of people you ever did see. They include 43 paid staff and over 75 regular volunteers, not to mention thousands of donors, adopters and other supporters, who quietly and methodically do what needs to be done. It's all about the animals for these people.

I would like to sincerely thank these fine people and let you know how proud I am to be part of this amazing agency and these incredible people. Together, we are doing great things.

Partners in Focus

We would like to introduce a new "column" to the MHS Cause4Paws newsletter, called "Partners in Focus." This column will take a look at different businesses and organizations in our community that partner with the Maui Humane Society to help us fulfill our mission. In subsequent issues, we will be spotlighting some of these business partners, telling you about the wonderful things they provide for our community and how they are helping our animals. We will also talk about the variety of programs and partnership opportunities that MHS offers to organizations to form mutually beneficial relationships.

A few of these opportunities include:

- Animal Aloha program (see back page for our current partners)
- 'Ohana Club Member Discount partnership
- MHS radio show "All Things Animal" sponsorship

We would like to thank all of the people, businesses and organizations who partner with us to change the lives of Maui's animals for the better. Together, we can and will continue to make a difference!

If you are interested in learning more about these or other partnership programs, please contact Dawn Hall, Director of Fund Development, at (808) 877-3680 x 32 or email dhall@mauihumanesociety.org.

Volunteer Spotlight

Meet John Murphy, retired propane business owner (and dedicated MHS volunteer.) John is a “snow bird” resident of Maui and flies back to Indiana every summer for a few months. What started as “looking for something to do,” John’s contribution has turned into much more. He has been helping at the Maui Humane Society for nearly 8 years and is an integral member of the Facilities/

John Murphy (R) with MHS staff member, Lindsey Nicolas

Maintenance crew. During the months John is on Maui, he puts in as many (if not more) hours than our full-time staff. Over the course of one month (Dec 2008), John racked up an amazing 172 hours of volunteer time!

Always willing to lend a hand, John has many talents and is referred to by some as a “jack of all trades.” From electrical work and yard maintenance to installing a commercial washer and pouring cement, John is there every step of the way. He says he learns something new every day. When asked about his favorite part of volunteering, John says he loves the feeling of accomplishment at the end of each day and is proud knowing his hard work is helping the animals and staff at MHS.

If John sees a need, he’ll be one of the first to step in, no matter if it involves work on the shelter grounds or as a foster parent. John took home a mother cat and her kittens that needed some special attention and care before being old enough for adoption. He is also a very generous man. Take for example, the most recent addition to the MHS facility workshop, a power trowel John purchased and had shipped to Maui from Kauai, then donated to MHS just to make building new exercise yards a little easier. Wherever the need, John Murphy is willing to help.

“John is one of the best guys I’ve ever met,” remarks fellow facilities team member, Alex Maldonado. “He loves to have fun and we laugh all day long.” John’s sense of humor and compassion has helped many get through some tough times at the shelter.

“There are a lot of good people working here, all dedicated to helping animals,” he says. “They have to deal with all sorts of (situations on a daily basis).” John definitely knows how to ‘lighten the mood’ and staff at MHS are glad he’s a part of the family.

What are John’s hopes for the future of MHS? A new shelter! The current MHS facility is busting at the seams. John and the facilities team would be the first to know, since they are the ones that get to patch it back together. “We need more space to be able to hold more animals and make working here easier for the staff. It’s a shame the number of animals that come through the shelter every year.” We hope to expand the shelter in the future as well and hope John will still be volunteering at MHS to share in that accomplishment!

Mahalo nui loa to JOHN MURPHY for his continuous dedication to our orphaned animals and helping make the Maui Humane Society a great place to be!

There are many opportunities to help out with the Maui Humane Society! If you are interested in joining our fabulous team of volunteers, please visit www.mauihumanesociety.org for more information about our volunteer program.

We are happy to announce:

Preschool Story Time

Every Thursday beginning May 7 from 1:30pm - 2:00pm. Preschoolers age 0-5 will come with their parents/guardians for an animal story, a fun craft or activity and time to spend with the animals.

Junior Animal Lovers Club

First Thursday of every month from 4-6 pm, students grades 5-8 (first one May 7). Junior Animal Lovers Club is a club where kids are engaged in a continual learning process about animals. They will have guest speakers, fun activities, volunteer projects, and meet new, like-minded friends. We want to see our loyal “Animal Campers” have a place that will keep them engaged all year long, not just during Animal Camp.

Dear Steve

by Lisa Giesick

Dear Steve,
Why does my dog bark all the time?

Mahalo,
Mike in Makawao

Dear Mike,

If your dog pees in the house, it only affects those living in the home. However, problems like excessive barking can result in neighborhood disputes and violations of animal control ordinances. If your dog's barking has created neighborhood tension, it's a good idea to address the problem. It is perfectly normal and reasonable for dogs to bark from time to time, just as children make noise when they play outside. However, continual barking for long periods of time is a problem and a nuisance to those around you.

The first thing you need to do is determine when and for how long your dog barks, and what is causing him to bark. You may need to do some detective work to obtain this information, especially if the barking occurs when you're not home.

So why does your dog bark? Your dog may be barking because he's bored or lonely. He may bark if he is left alone for long periods of time without opportunities for interaction with you. How is his environment? Does he have toys or playmates? Is he a puppy or adolescent (under 3 years old) and does not have other outlets for his energy? How much exercise is he getting? If he's a particularly active type of dog, like the herding or sporting breeds, he may need a "job" to be happy.

Here are some things to help expand your dog's world and increase his "people time." Walk your dog daily, it's good exercise for both of you. Take a dog training class, the Humane Society offers them regularly. Dog training is a great way to communicate with your dog. Practice obedience with your dog every day for 5 to 15 minutes at a time. Teach your dog a new trick and practice with him as often as possible. Provide interesting toys to keep your dog busy when you're not home. The Humane Society also sells lots of toys. (Kong type toys filled with treats or busy-box toys.) Rotating the toys makes them seem new and interesting.

Dogs bark for attention. If you think this is the case, make sure he has time with you on a daily basis (petting, grooming, playing, and exercising), so he doesn't have to resort to misbehaving to get your attention.

If you work long hours, take him to a doggie day care or have a friend or neighbor walk and/or play with him.

Dogs bark to guard their territory. You will know this is the reason if your dog's posture while he's barking appears threatening; tail held high and ears up and forward. The barking occurs in the presence of "intruders," which may include the mail carrier, children walking to school and other dogs or neighbors in adjacent yards. Have your dog neutered (or spayed if your dog is a female) to decrease territorial behavior.

Keep your dog inside when you're unable to supervise him. Teach your dog a "quiet" command. When he begins to bark at a passer-by, allow two or three barks, then say "quiet" and interrupt his barking by distracting him. Throw a ball or a toy by him, or ask him to sit. This will cause him to stop barking momentarily. While he's quiet, say "quiet" and hold a finger to your mouth as a "shh" signal and pop a treat into his mouth.

Dogs bark because of fears, phobias, and separation anxiety. Desensitizing your dog to the things that make him bark is also a good idea. If your dog barks while inside the house when you're home, call him to you, have him obey a command, such as "sit" or "down," and reward him with praise and a treat. Limit the dog's access to views that might be causing him to bark when you are not home. Leave a radio on to block out noises from the neighborhood.

What about bark collars? Bark collars are specially designed to deliver a negative response whenever your dog barks. There are several different kinds of bark collars. The Citronella Collar is a collar that contains a reservoir of citronella solution that sprays into your dog's face every time he barks. This collar is considered humane and does work with some dogs. One possible drawback is that the collar contains a microphone, and sometimes other noises may set off the collar, causing your dog to be sprayed even if he did not bark. Also, some dogs can tell when the reservoir is empty and will resume barking.

I do not recommend the electric shock collar. The electric shock is painful to your dog and many dogs will choose to endure the pain and continue barking. These collars are expensive and their success rate is very low. Also, redirected aggression toward people or pets that are around the dog may result. The main drawback of any bark collar is that it does not address the underlying cause of the barking. You may be able to stop the barking, but it does not address the reason for the barking. A substitution may occur and your dog may begin digging, escaping or become destructive or even aggressive. The use of a bark collar must be in conjunction with behavior modification based on the reason for the barking, as mentioned above. You should never use a bark collar on your dog if his barking is due to separation anxiety, fears or phobias, because punishment always makes fear and anxiety behaviors worse.

A tired dog is a well behaved dog. Make sure your dog is getting what he needs to be happy AND quiet.

If you are experiencing a behavior problem with your pet, don't give up, get help. Lisa and her dog, Steve (MHS alumni) are here to help. E-mail your behavior questions to Lisa at talk@mauihumanesociety.org. In the subject line of your e-mail, put "Dear Steve." We may publish your questions in the next newsletter!

Success Stories

Antonio

Aloha! My name is Antonio, but some of you may remember me by my old name ~ Korky. I have a very special story to tell. I was rescued last summer and taken to the Maui Humane Society. I had been confined to a very small, dilapidated wooden cage with no access to grass or even dirt. My unfortunate home was unkempt and saturated with my own excrement. Because of those horrible living conditions and never having the chance to get out and move around, the toenails on each of my feet were severely overgrown and caused me a great deal of pain. You can see from the pictures what a torturous state I'd been living in. As a result, my legs are slightly twisted, joints are worn and my feet were excruciatingly sensitive. I suffered many years of agony and felt severely neglected during my time in that hutch, but managed to endure it all.

I was rescued by a wonderful Animal Control Officer from the MHS. She recognized my good heart and will to survive. She took me into her home as a foster to begin the long path to nurture me back to health. We shared some scary nights when we thought I might not survive.

I was carried in blankets much of the time while my feet were beginning to mend. Even though I was weak and my body in a decrepit state, I felt a little stronger in my heart every day.

Over the past year, I have recovered by leaps and bounds ~ just ask my new mom Gabriela. We met for the first time last August at Bark in the Park and instantly fell in love! When she first took me home I was still not feeling so well and my new veterinarian didn't know if I was going to make it. Gabriela took such great care of me and showered me with so much love, it didn't take too long for me to start feeling better. Now, almost 9 months later, I feel like a new dog! I just love my new family! I have a brother named, Lalo, who I run around and play ball with. During the day I go to work with Gabriela. At night we all cuddle in our warm bed together, so far from the life I left behind. I am proud to wear my "past life scars" on the outside of my body, instead of locked on the inside like others I've met. My feet are still sensitive, so I am tentative to venture outside in the grass. Even with this one piece of "residual baggage," I am such a happy, loveable dog and so grateful for being given a second chance at life.

Mahalo to my family, my doctors and all at the Maui Humane Society who believed in me!

 Antonio
